Which of the following are recognized by the Supreme Court as part of the right to life and personal liberty under Article 21? -

1. Right to emergency medical aid

2. Right to sleep

3. Right to travel abroad

4. Right against solitary confinement

5. Right to reputation

Select the correct answer using the code given below:

1 1, 2 and 5 only

2 3, 4 and 5 only

3 1, 2, 3 and 4 only

4 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5

Solution

All are correct

- Article 21 declares that no person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty except according to procedure established by law.
 - All the listed aspects are included within the right to life and personal liberty under Article 21.
 - A few examples are;
 - Right to live with human dignity.
 - Right to decent environment including pollution free water and air and protection against hazardous industries.
 - Right to livelihood.
 - Right to privacy.
 - Right to shelter.
 - Right to health.
 - Right to free education up to 14 years of age.
 - Right to free legal aid.
 - Right against solitary confinement.
 - Right to speedy trial.
 - Right against handcuffing.
 - Right against inhuman treatment.
 - Right against delayed execution.
 - Right to travel abroad.
 - Right against bonded labor.
 - Right against custodial harassment
 - Right to sleep
 - Right to emergency medical aid.
 - Right to reputation.
- Thus, option (d) is the correct answer.

Q.2

Which among the following Directive Principles of State Policy.(DPSP) are based on the philosophy of Liberal Intellectual? -

1. To secure for all citizens a uniform civil code throughout the country.

2. To separate legislature from the executive.

3. To protect and improve the environment and to safeguard forests and wildlife.

1 1 and 2 only

② 1 and 3 only

3 2 and 3 only

④ 1, 2 and 3

Statement 1 and 3 are correct but 2 is incorrect. • The principles included in this category represent the ideology of liberalism. They direct the state:

- ❖ To secure for all citizens a uniform civil code throughout the country (Article 44).
- ❖ To provide early childhood care and education for all children until they complete the age of six years (Article 45).
- ❖ To organise agriculture and animal husbandry on modern and scientific lines (Article 48).
- ❖ To protect and improve the environment and to safeguard forests and wild life (Article 48A).
- ❖ To protect monuments, places and objects of artistic or historic interest which are declared to be of national importance (Article 49).
- ❖ To separate the judiciary from the executive in the public services of the State (Article 50).
- ❖ To promote international peace and security and maintain just and honourable relations between nations; to foster respect for international law and treaty obligations, and to encourage settlement of international disputes by arbitration (Article 51).

With reference to Article 18 of Indian Constitution, consider the following statements:

1. Article 18 prohibits only hereditary titles of nobility.
2. National awards like Bharat Ratna and Padma Vibhushan can be used as suffixes or prefixes to the names of awardees.
3. A foreigner holding an office of profit or trust under the state can accept title from a foreign state without the consent of the president.

Which of the statements given above is/are not correct?

① 1 only

② 2 only

3 1 and 3 only

④ 2 and 3 only

Statement 1 is correct

- In 1996, the Supreme Court upheld the constitutional validity of the National Awards - Bharat Ratna, Padma Vibhushan, Padma Bhushan and Padma Sri.
- It ruled that these awards do not amount to 'titles' within the meaning of Article 18 that prohibits only hereditary titles of nobility.
- Therefore, they are not violative of Article 18 as the theory of equality does not mandate that merit should not be recognised.

Statement 2 is incorrect

- Even though the constitution allows the national awards like Bharat Ratna and Padma Vibhushan, constitution does not allow them to be used as suffixes or prefixes to the names of awardees.

Statement 3 is incorrect

- Article 18 abolishes titles and makes four provisions in that regard:
 - i. It prohibits the state from conferring any title (except a military or academic distinction) on anybody, whether a citizen or a foreigner.
 - ii. It prohibits a citizen of India from accepting any title from any foreign state.

- iii. A foreigner holding any office of profit or trust under the state cannot accept any title from any foreign state without the consent of the President.
 - iv. No citizen or foreigner holding any office of profit or trust under the State is to accept any present, emolument or office from or under any foreign State without the consent of the president.
- Thus, option (d) is the correct answer.

Q.4

Consider the following statements regarding Doctrine of Eclipse:

- 1. The Doctrine of Eclipse states that If a law violates fundamental rights then the law becomes void.
 - 2. The Doctrine of Eclipse is applicable only to laws that were promulgated prior to the commencement of the Constitution.
 - 3. The Doctrine of Eclipse operates within the framework of Article 13 of Indian constitution.
- Which of the above given statement is/are correct:

- 1 1 and 3 only
- 2 2 and 3 only
- 3 1 and 2 only
- 4 All 1, 2 and 3

Solution

- Statement 1 is incorrect: The Doctrine of Eclipse asserts that a law inconsistent with fundamental rights is not deemed invalid but is overshadowed by the fundamental right. Constitutional amendment can remove the inconsistency, eliminating the eclipse and rendering the entire law valid.
 - Statement 2 is correct: The Doctrine of Eclipse is primarily applicable to laws that were enacted before the commencement of the Constitution if they are found to be inconsistent with the fundamental rights provided by the Constitution. Such laws are not null and void but are considered dormant or "eclipsed" to the extent of their inconsistency. They can be revived if the inconsistency is removed, such as through a constitutional amendment.
 - However, post-Constitutional laws that violate fundamental rights are deemed void ab initio under Article 13(2) and cannot be revived through the Doctrine of Eclipse. Hence, the doctrine applies specifically to pre-Constitutional laws but not to post-Constitutional laws that are in contravention of fundamental rights.
 - Statement 3 is correct: The Doctrine of Eclipse is addressed in Article 13(1) of the Indian Constitution.
 - According to Article 13, any law enacted before the constitution's commencement must align with Part III of the Indian Constitution. If a statute is inconsistent with the provisions of Part III, it becomes void.
 - However, it is not considered entirely dead but remains in a moribund condition until abolished by the Parliament.
- Thus, option (b) is the correct answer.

Consider the following statements:

- 1. Unaided minority schools
 - 2. Oil and Natural Gas Corporation
 - 3. Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI)
 - 4. National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT)
- How many of the above given are included in the definition of state under Article 12 of the Indian constitution?

- 1 Only one
- 2 Only two
- 3 Only three
- 4 All four

- Statement 1 is incorrect: Unaided minority schools over which the Government has no administrative control due to their authority under Article 30 (1) of the Constitution are not "State" within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution (Satimbla Sharma V. St. Paul Senior Secondary school[2011])
- Statement 2 is correct: In Sukhdev Singh v. Bhagatram, the Supreme Court, following the test laid down in Electricity Board Rajasthan's case by 4:1 majority, (Alagiriswamy, J. dissenting) held that Oil and Natural Gas Commission, Life Insurance Corporation and Industrial Finance Corporation, are authorities within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution and therefore, they are 'State'.
- Statement 3 is incorrect: BCCI is not 'State' under Article 12. As
 - The BCCI is not created by a statute.
 - No part of the share capital of the BCCI is held by the government.
 - Practically no financial assistance is given by the government to meet the whole or entire expenditure of the Board.
- Statement 4 is incorrect: Chandra Mohan Khanna v. NCERT, has held that the National Council of Educational Research and Training, is not a 'State' within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution. It is a society registered under the Societies Registration Act. The object of the NCERT is to assist and advise the Ministry of Education and Social Welfare in the implementation of the governmental policies and major programmes in the field of education particularly school education.
 - These activities are not wholly related to governmental functions. The governmental control is confined only to proper utilization of the grant. It is an autonomous body. Article 12 should not be stretched so as to bring in every autonomous body which has some nexus with the government within the sweep of the expression, 'State'.

Thus, option (a) is the correct answer.

Consider the following statements

1. Promotion based on preference of merit over seniority for officers with same years of service.
 2. Reservation of seats for employees and their wards in the central universities.
 3. The cancellation of the auction by executive when the good price cannot be obtained.
 4. Reservation made in favour of the children of ex-servicemen for education purposes.
- Which of the above statements violates the right enshrined under article 14?

- Statement 1 is incorrect: In U.V. Mahankar vs Subash Anand Charan case apex court stated that merit must be given preference over seniority. Seniority-cum-Merit principle, which is commonly used in India, that seniority is given priority in matters of promotion, but if two or more employees have the same seniority, then merit is used to determine who gets promoted. Mostly applied for appointment of state DGP.
 - Statement 2 is correct: The case Parveen Hans v. Registrar (1990) dealt with the issue of preferential admission in universities for the children of university staff. In this case, the court ruled that providing preferential treatment to the children of university staff violated Article 14 of the Indian Constitution, which ensures equality before the law and prohibits discrimination.
 - Statement 3 is incorrect. According to Gajanand Sahu vs State of Chhattisgarh, the cancellation of auction would not be improper where a competent authority after scrutinizing the auction process found that there was no sufficient competition and as such good price could not be obtained.
 - Statement 4 is incorrect. In G. Beenu v Andhra Pradesh university of health sciences 1990, Though the reservations made in favour of children of ex-servicemen is not one of the categories mentioned in article 15(4) of the constitution, such reservations have been upheld by the courts on the ground of reasonable classification.
- Thus, option (d) is the correct answer.

Which of the following rights are provided by the constitution of India to the accused persons in order to ensure a fair trial in courts?

1. No person would be punished for the same offence more than once
2. No law shall declare any action as illegal retrospectively.
3. No person who is arrested shall be detained in custody without being informed
4. No person shall be asked to give evidence against himself or herself

Which of the statements given above is/are correct?

- ☐ 1, 2 and 3 only
☐ 2, 3 and 4 only
☒ 1, 2 and 4 only
☐ All 1, 2, 3 and 4

Solution

- Article 20 of the Indian Constitution grants protection against arbitrary and excessive punishment to an accused person, whether citizen or foreigner or legal person like a corporation. It contains three provisions in this regard:
 - No person shall be prosecuted and punished for the same offence more than once. Hence Statement 1 is correct.
 - No person is subjected to a penalty greater than that prescribed by the law in force at the time of commission of the act.
 - No law shall declare any action as illegal retrospectively. Hence Statement 2 is correct.
 - No person shall be asked to give evidence against himself or herself. Hence Statement 4 is correct.
 - Civil actions can be declared illegal retrospectively
 - Article 22 of the Indian constitution states that, No person who is arrested shall be detained in custody without being informed, as soon as may be, of the grounds for such arrest nor shall he be denied the right to consult, and to be defended by, a legal practitioner of his choice. Hence statement 3 is incorrect.

Q.8

Consider the following statements.

1. Hate Speech refers to any statement which may inflict emotional or sentimental harm to another person.
2. No legislation other than the Indian penal code contains provisions that deal with hate speech in India.

Which of the above statements is/are incorrect?

- 1 1 only
- 2 2 only
- 3 Both 1 and 2
- 4 Neither 1 nor 2

Solution

- Statement 1 is incorrect: Hate Speech as defined by the 267th report of the Law Commission of India is “an incitement to hatred primarily against a group of persons defined in terms of race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, religious belief and the like”.
- Hence, Hate Speech has a much broader definition more than of race, ethnicity and gender.
- Statement 2 is incorrect: Under Indian Penal Code: Sections 153A and 153B of the IPC: Punishes acts that cause enmity and hatred between two groups. Section 295A of the IPC: Deals with punishing acts which deliberately or with malicious intention outrage the religious feelings of a class of persons. Sections 505(1) and 505(2): Make the publication and circulation of content which may cause ill-will or hatred between different groups an offence. In addition to the above provisions, there are also a number of laws and policies that deal with hate speech in India. These include:
 - The Information Technology Act, 2000: This Act deals with the regulation of information technology in India. It also contains a number of provisions that deal with hate speech. For example, Section 66A of the Act prohibits the posting of any information that is "grossly offensive" or "has the intent to cause harm."

- 4. Participate in public life

How many of the above is/are related to principle of liberty?

- ☐ Only one
- ☐ Only two

Solution

Option (d) is correct

Liberty
Part III also encompasses the philosophical principle of liberty, emphasizing the importance of individual freedom and autonomy.
Articles 19 to 22 guarantee various freedoms, such as freedom of speech and expression, freedom of assembly, freedom of movement, and protection of personal liberty.
These rights reflect the belief that individuals should have the freedom to express themselves, participate in public life, and make choices that align with their values and preferences.
The Constitution seeks to safeguard these liberties, ensuring that the state does not unduly curtail them except in certain reasonable circumstances.

With reference to the division of powers between the levels of government in India, consider the following statements:

1. Parliament, by ordinary law, demarcated the subjects between the centre and the states.

2. States are allowed to make laws on subjects that are not mentioned in any of the lists in the seventh schedule.

3. Indian Federalism is characterized by a strong centralizing tendency.

How many of the above statements are correct?

① Only one

② Only two

3 All three

4 None

Solution

The Indian Constitution establishes two different forms of government: the Union government (central government), which oversees the entire country, and the State government, which oversees each unit or State. Both of these are constitutionally recognized and have a distinct scope of action.

Statement 1 is incorrect: The Constitution (and not an ordinary parliamentary law) clearly demarcates subjects, which are under the exclusive domain of the Union, from those under the States.

Statement 2 is incorrect: There are some subjects that do not find mention in any of the three lists provided in the seventh schedule, and the power to legislate on any of those subjects is solely vested in the central government (the Parliament).

Statement 3 is correct: Some of the provisions of the Constitution have made Indian federalism a federalism with a strong centre such as:

- Emergency Provisions
 - No territorial integrity for states
 - Dependence of states on centre in matters of financial resources, etc.
- Thus, option (a) is the correct answer.

Which of the following forms a key challenge related to financial devolution in Indian setup?

- 1 Vertical integration of financial resources.
- 2 Inadequate utilization of grant-in-aid by states.
- 3 Overdependence of states on central taxes.
- 4 Equal distribution of fiscal capacity among states.

Solution

One of the significant challenges in financial devolution in India is the overdependence of states on central taxes. Many states rely heavily on the revenue generated by the Union government, which can lead to a lack of fiscal autonomy and inadequate financial resources for state governments. This overdependence poses challenges for states to meet their development needs and address regional disparities effectively. Thus, option (c) is the correct answer.

Zonal Councils are created for healthy inter-state relationships and for fostering balanced socio-economic development. In this context, consider the following statements:
1. Zonal councils are neither constitutional nor a statutory body.
2. The prime minister is the chairman of all the Zonal Councils.
3. A person nominated by the NITI Aayog is also associated with the council as an advisor.
Which of the above statements is/are incorrect?

- 1 1 and 2 only
- 2 1 and 3 only
- 3 2 only

4 All of the above

Solution

The idea of creating Zonal Councils was proposed by Prime Minister Jawahar Lal Nehru in 1956 during debates on the States Reorganisation Commission’s report. Nehru suggested grouping states into zones with Advisory Councils to encourage cooperative working, mitigate linguistic hostilities, and promote balanced socio-economic development.

Statement 1 is incorrect: Zonal Councils are the statutory bodies. They are established by an Act of Parliament, that is, the States Reorganization Act of 1956.

Statement 2 is incorrect: The Union Home Minister is the Chairman of each of these Councils. The Chief Ministers of the States included in each zone act as Vice-Chairman of the Zonal Council for that zone by rotation, each holding office for a period of one year at a time.

Statement 3 is correct: NITI Aayog nominates a person to serve as an advisor to each of India’s five Zonal Councils. These advisors participate in council meetings but don’t have voting rights. Other advisors include the chief secretary and development commissioner from each state in the zone.

Consider the following sources: -

1. Constitutional provisions

2. Laws made by Parliament

3. Rules of both Houses of Parliament

4. Directives issued by the President

4 All four

- Originally, the Constitution (Article 105) expressly mentioned two privileges, that is, freedom of speech in Parliament and the right of publication of its proceedings.
- About other privileges, it provided that they were to be the same as those of the British House of Commons, its committees, and its members on the date of its commencement (ie, 26 January 1950), until defined by Parliament.
- The 44th Amendment Act of 1978 provided that the other privileges of each House of Parliament, its committees, and its members are to be those which they had on the date of its commencement (ie, 20 June 1979), until defined by Parliament.
- This means that the position about other privileges remains the same.
- In other words, the amendment has made only verbal changes by dropping a direct reference to the British House of Commons, without making any change in the implication of the provision.
- It should be noted here that the Parliament, till now, has not made any special law to exhaustively codify all the privileges.
- They are based on five sources:
 - ❖ Constitutional provisions,
 - ❖ Various laws made by Parliament,
 - ❖ Rules of both the Houses,
 - ❖ Parliamentary conventions, and
 - ❖ Judicial interpretations.

Which of the statements given above is/are INCORRECT?

- 1 1 only
- 2 1 and 2 only
- 3 2 and 3 only
- 4 1 and 3 only

Solution

Article 262 of the Constitution provides for the adjudication of inter-state water disputes. It makes two provisions: (1) Parliament may by law provide for the adjudication of any dispute or complaint with respect to the use, distribution and control of waters of any inter-state river and river valley. (2) Parliament may also provide that neither the Supreme Court nor any other court is to exercise jurisdiction in respect of any such dispute or complaint. Under this provision, the Parliament has enacted two laws [the River Boards Act (1956) and the Inter-State Water Disputes Act (1956)].

- Statement 1 is correct: The Inter-State Water Disputes Act empowers the Central government to set up an ad hoc tribunal for the adjudication of a dispute between two or more states in relation to the waters of an inter-state river or river valley.
- Statement2 is incorrect: The decision of the tribunal would be final and binding on the parties to the dispute. Neither the Supreme Court nor any other court is to have jurisdiction in respect of any water dispute which may be referred to such a tribunal under this Act.
- Statement 3 is incorrect: The River Boards Act,1956 provides for the establishment of river boards for the regulation and development of inter-state river and river valleys. A river board is established by the Central government on the request of the state governments concerned to advise them.

3. Forests - State list

4. Education - Concurrent List

How many pairs of the above have been matched correctly?

- 1 Only one
- 2 Only two
- 3 Only three

4 All four

Solution

• The Constitution provides for a three-fold distribution of legislative subjects between the Centre and the states, viz., List-I (the Union List), List-II (the State List) and List-III (the Concurrent List) in the Seventh Schedule:

1. The Parliament has exclusive powers to make laws with respect to any of the matters enumerated in the Union List. This list has at present 98 subjects (originally 971 subjects) like defence, banking, foreign affairs, currency, atomic energy, insurance, communication, inter-state trade and commerce, census, audit and so on.

2. The state legislature has “in normal circumstances” exclusive powers to make laws with respect to any of the matters enumerated in the State List. This has at present 59 subjects (originally 662 subjects) like public order, police, public health and sanitation, agriculture, prisons, local government, fisheries, markets, theaters, gambling and so on.

3. Both, the Parliament and state legislature can make laws with respect to any of the matters enumerated in the Concurrent List. This list has at present 52 subjects (originally 473 subjects) like criminal law and procedure, civil procedure, marriage and divorce, population control and family planning, electricity, labour welfare, economic and social planning, drugs, newspapers, books and printing press, and others.

The 42nd Amendment Act of 1976 transferred five subjects to Concurrent List from State List, that is,

(a) education,
(b) forests,
(c) weights and measures,
(d) protection of wild animals and birds, and
(e) administration of justice; constitution and organisation of all courts except the Supreme Court and the high courts.

Q.23

Which of the following is correct regarding the power which the President of India can exercise in case of failure of constitutional machinery in a State?

- 1 Assume to himself all or any of the functions of the Legislature of the State.

- 2

Declare that the powers of the Judiciary of the State shall be exercisable as per the directions extended by the Parliament.
- 3

Make provisions for conducting fresh elections in the State under his supervision.
- 4

Authorizing expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of the State when the Lok Sabha is not in session.

Solution

- In the case of failure of constitutional machinery in States, the President of India may, by Proclamation, as per Article 356 of the Constitution, declare that the powers of the Legislature of the State shall be exercisable by or under the authority of Parliament.
 - When this directive is issued, as per Article 357, the President has the powers to authorize expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of the State when the Lok Sabha is not in session, pending the sanction of such expenditure by Parliament.
 - As per Article 356 of the Constitution, the President of India can take over the functions and powers of the State Government, Governor, or any other authority in the state, except the Legislature of the State.
 - As per Article 356 of the Constitution, the President of India cannot take over the powers of a High Court or suspend any provision of the Constitution related to High Courts.
 - The Constitution, under Article 324, vests the superintendence, direction and control of elections in the Election Commission of India.
 - In case of a failure of constitutional machinery in a State, the President’s Rule can be extended indefinitely if the Election Commission of India certifies that it is necessary on account of difficulties in holding general elections to the Legislative Assembly of the State concerned.
 - Once the conditions are viable for conducting fresh elections, the President’s Rule can be removed, and the Election Commission of India can then conduct elections under its supervision and control.
- Thus, option (d) is the correct answer.

Solution

Under article 359, the proclamation of emergency under article 352 enables the president to suspend any of the fundamental rights of the citizens except the right to protection from conviction of offenses and right to life and personal liberty (article 20 and 21). So, option C is correct.

Consider the following statements about the reservation policy in India:

- Which of the above statements is/are correct?

- 1 1 only
- 2 2 only
- 3 Both 1 and 2
- 4 Neither 1 nor 2

Solution

In November, 2022, Supreme Court declared that the Amendment and EWS Reservations were constitutionally valid. Judge D. Maheswari said that the court has only held that economic criteria cannot be the sole basis in case of SC/ST and OBCs reservations. Separate reservation that considers economic criteria for other classes are different and thus constitutionally valid.

According to Article 16(6): The state is empowered to make any special provision for the advancement of any economically weaker sections of citizens. Further, the state is allowed to make a provision for the reservation of up to 10% of seats for such sections in admission to educational institutions including private educational institutions, whether aided or unaided by the state, except the minority educational institutions. This reservation of up to 10% would be in addition to the existing reservations. For this purpose, the economically weaker sections would be notified by the state from time to time on the basis of family income, other indicator of economic disadvantage.

Thus, option (d) is the correct answer.

- 1 Both Statement-I and Statement-II are correct and Statement-II is the correct explanation for Statement-I
- 2 Both Statement-I and Statement-II are correct and Statement-II is not the correct explanation for Statement-I
- 3 Statement-I is correct but Statement-II is incorrect
- 4 Statement-I is incorrect but Statement-II is correct

Solution

The Supreme Court has made a novel use of Article 21, viz., to ensure that the female workers are not sexually harassed by their male co-workers at their places of work. In the 'Vishaka v/s the State of Rajasthan case', the Supreme Court has declared sexual harassment of a working woman at her place of work as amounting to the violation of the rights of gender equality and the right to life and liberty, which is a clear violation of Articles 14, 15 and 21 of the Constitution.

Sexual harassment also violates the victim's Fundamental Right under Article 19(1)(g) "to practice any profession or to carry out any occupation, trade or business". Thus, Article 32 is attracted.

In view of the above, and the absence of enacted law to provide for the effective enforcement of the basic human right of gender equality and guarantee against sexual harassment and abuse, more particularly against sexual harassment at work places, the Supreme Court laid down the guidelines and norms for due observance at all work places or other institutions, until a legislation is enacted for the purpose.

This is done in exercise of the power available under Article 32 of the Constitution for the enforcement of the Fundamental Rights and it is further emphasised that this would be treated as the law declared by this Court under Article 141 of the Constitution. These directions are binding and enforceable, and are required to be strictly observed in all work places, until suitable legislation is enacted to occupy the field.
Thus, option (a) is the correct answer.

Q.29

Which of the following statements accurately describes the right to travel under the Indian Constitution.

- 1

The right to travel is an absolute right and cannot be restricted under any circumstances.
- 2

The right to travel is only applicable to Indian citizens and does not extend to foreigners or non citizens.
- 3

The right to travel may be restricted by the government in certain circumstances, such as in the interest of national security or public order.
- 4

The right to travel is only applicable within the territorial boundaries of India and does not extend to international travel.

Solution

- While the Indian Constitution recognizes the right to travel as a fundamental right under Article 21, this right is not absolute and may be subject to certain restrictions imposed by the government. These restrictions may be necessary in order to maintain public order, protect national security, prevent criminal activities, or ensure the safety and welfare of citizens.
- For example, the government may restrict travel to certain areas or regions that are deemed to be unsafe or unstable due to civil unrest, terrorism, or other security concerns.
- Similarly, the government may impose travel restrictions in times of public health emergencies or natural disasters in order to prevent the spread of disease or protect the safety of citizens.

- Statement 1 is correct. Article 46 states, “The state shall promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections of the people, and, in particular, of the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes, and shall protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation.”
- Statement 2 is incorrect. The aforesaid decision would have violated Fundamental rights and not the DPSP. The Supreme Court ruled in the T. M. Pai Foundation case, the Islamic Academy case, and the P. A. Inamdar case that the state cannot make reservations for seats in privately operated educational institutions.
 - But to override the effects of both of the preceding situations, the Parliament added a new clause (5) to Article 15, allowing the state to set the reservation in privately operated educational institutions as well. Hence it does not violate Fundamental rights as well.
- Statement 3 is incorrect. Article 36 is the definition part of the Directive Principles of State Policy. It defines what is a 'State' for Directive Principles to be followed.
 - The words of the Article suggest that the meaning of the State under Article 36 is the same as the meaning of the State under Part III of the Indian Constitution. State legislatures fall under the meaning of state for the Fundamental rights.

3. No U.S. President has ever been removed from office as a direct result of impeachment and conviction by the Congress.

How many of the statements given above is/are correct?

④ None

Solution

- Statement 1 is correct: According to Article II, Section 4 of the U.S. Constitution, the President, Vice President, and all civil officers of the United States can be removed from office through impeachment. To be impeached, a President or other federal official must have committed one of the violations described by the Constitution as “treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanours.”
- Statement 2 is incorrect: The American President can be removed from office if the House approves articles of impeachment by a simple majority and the Senate votes by a two-thirds majority to convict after holding a trial. An impeachment inquiry is a formal step that can precede a House vote on whether to approve articles of impeachment and eventually a trial in the Senate.
- Statement 3 is correct: The American Constitution gives Congress the authority to impeach and remove the President. Since the first impeachment in 1797, the House has initiated proceedings more than sixty times, but fewer than twenty cases have led to full impeachment. Three presidents have been impeached, although none were convicted: Andrew Johnson was in 1868, Bill Clinton was in 1998, and Donald Trump twice, in 2019 and 2021.

Statement III: The Finance Commission does not have the authority to recommend measures for controlling fiscal deficits in States.

How many of the above statements are correct?

1 Only one

2 Only two

3 All three

4 None

Solution

- Statement 1 is correct. One of the main objectives of the Finance Commission is to enhance the fiscal autonomy of States by recommending the principles and criteria for the distribution of financial resources between the Union (Central Government) and the States. It aims to ensure a fair distribution of finances to augment the States' autonomy in fiscal matters.
- Statement 2 is incorrect. The Finance Commission primarily deals with recommending the distribution of finances between the Union and States, focusing on tax devolution and grants-in-aid. The allocation of resources for centrally sponsored schemes is typically done by the Central Government based on its policies and priorities, not by the Finance Commission.
- Statement 3 is correct. The Finance Commission's mandate primarily revolves around the distribution of finances rather than directly recommending measures for controlling fiscal deficits in States. While it suggests measures for improving the States' fiscal health indirectly through its recommendations, it doesn't have direct authority over controlling fiscal deficits.
